

Suppose you are given a list of students CGPA values are stored in an array. Using only PHP loops and conditions, you must divide the students into groups and assign different level of task according their CGPA and performance.